MEDICAL.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMpanion, by Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, professor of diseases of women; one hundredth edition, (500,000,) 12mo, pp. 336, on fine paper, extra binding 'ries 31. Every complaint to which woman is subject, from girthood to womanhood, and also as wife and as mother, are fully described, with the cause, the symptoms, and also the proper mode of treatment, in a plain, simple, but in the most chaste language, easily understood. And they every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character and cause of her complaint, and be spared much anxiety and suffering. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost insportance to her future health, in respect to which he sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and alse explanations of many symptoms which otherwise would occasion much anxiety or alarm. How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the formals aystem, which undermine the health, of the effect of which they are ignorant, and which ther delicacy forbids seeking medical advice. How many suffer from prolagus uteri, (falling of the womb,) or from floor albus (weakness, debility, &c.) How many are in constant sgony for many months preceding confinement! How many have difficult, if not dangerous addiverse, and slow and uncertain recoveries! Some whose lives are hasarded during such time will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration and relief. How many bitter moments, how much anguish night have been spared the sufferer, to the husband, to the relatives, by a time possession of this little volume! It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or those centemplating marriage.
